Article Analysis (N/A means that you are excused from the assignment)

Name of lab or activity this replaces:

Title of Article __________________________________
Author _________________________________________
Source _________________________________________
Date of Article __________________________________

*Answer in complete sentences.
Who is this about/does it concern/did the research?
____________________________________________________________________________________

What is the article about?
____________________________________________________________________________________

Where is this being done/being researched/happening?
____________________________________________________________________________________

When did this happen/will it happen?
____________________________________________________________________________________

Why is this article being written/is the research being conducted?
____________________________________________________________________________________

Vocabulary Words: Choose 3 words and define, preferably words that you do not already know or have only an idea of what they mean.
1) __________________ : ______________________________________________________________________
2) __________________ : ______________________________________________________________________
3) __________________ : ______________________________________________________________________

Opinion: Write 5 complete sentences about this article, which may answer some or all of these questions: What is the importance/significance of the content? What did you find interesting? What did you learn?
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________